

The image shows a large rectangular frame with a blue border, divided into four smaller rectangular boxes arranged in a 2x2 grid. Each of these four boxes contains two empty speech bubbles at the top, positioned side-by-side. The rest of each box is blank, providing space for writing or drawing. This layout is typically used for a group discussion or a collaborative activity where each box represents a different group member's input.